

Tokyo Keizai University Faculty of Economics

Discussion Paper Series

No. 002

Existence, Comparison, and Uniqueness of the Epstein–Zin
Stochastic Differential Utility with Unit Elasticity of Intertemporal
Substitution

Yuki Shigeta
Tokyo Keizai University

March 12, 2026

東京経済大学経済学会

Tokyo Keizai University Economics Association
Kokubunji, Japan

Tokyo Keizai University Faculty of Economics Discussion Paper Publication Regulations

Date of Enactment: September 24, 2025

---

Article 1 (Purpose of Publication)

The purpose of issuing the Faculty of Economics Discussion Papers is to promptly disseminate research results produced by members of the Tokyo Keizai University Economics Association and to promote the revitalization of discussions within the domestic and international academic community.

Article 2 (Eligibility of Authors)

1. Authors are classified into the following categories:

(1) Members of the Tokyo Keizai University Economics Association (regular members and special members) (hereinafter referred to as "Author A").

(2) Persons other than those listed in the preceding item (hereinafter referred to as "Author B").

2. Author A may publish their own individual research results, joint research results with other Author As, or joint research results with Author Bs.

3. Author B may publish research results only when co-authoring with Author A.

4. The publication of a discussion paper shall be determined based on the application or recommendation of at least one regular member of the Tokyo Keizai University Economics Association.

Article 3 (Content for Publication)

The content to be included in the discussion papers shall broadly encompass research outputs by eligible authors, such as academic papers, research notes, materials, book reviews, and similar works.

Article 4 (Copyright)

The copyrights for works such as the papers published in the Discussion Paper Series shall revert to the author, and the Tokyo Keizai University Economics Association shall retain an edit copyright. Also, the author shall be able to entrust exercise of the copyright to the Tokyo Keizai University Economics Association. Even such a case shall not interfere with the author exercising the rights.

Article 5 (Administration)

The administration related to the publication of the Faculty of Economics Discussion Papers shall be carried out by the Editorial Committee of the Journal of Tokyo Keizai University: Economics.

Article 6 (Revision and Abolition)

Any revision or abolition of these regulations shall be decided by the Tokyo Keizai University Economics Association.