ADVERTISEMENT.

UPON considering the extent of the various Stamp Duties, from their first institution in the reign of William and Mary to the present time—the stamps of various denominations of the same value—the declared necessity of applying each respective stamp to its proper instrument—the difficulty in many cases of resorting to the statutes at large—and the mutilated and manifest incorrectness of all or most of the stamp tables which have been presented to the Public:—it was conceived, that a Statement of the following nature would be highly useful and acceptable, as it affords a more perfect description of the various stamps, and the purposes to which they are applicable, than any which have hitherto appeared. The time and attention employed in looking over the Acts (from which source alone the whole has been taken) has been very considerable; every distinct Act having been repeatedly examined, in order that the Public might with the greater safety confide in the reference to them, and possess as Complete an Account of the Stamp Duties as possible.

Chancery Lane,
1797.

A COMPLETE STAMP TABLE.

AFTER the following Table was printed, it was submitted to the inspection of the Honorable the Commissioners of His Majesty's Stamp Duties, who, to supply the observation placed against BRIEFS and NEWGATE PARDONS, observed, that they were under the words "Grants, &c." both subject to the same Duty; and recommended a more full recital of the act of 37 Geo. III. c. 19. relating to DEEDS, which, after imposing such Duty on every fifteen folios, as (vide Bond, Deed, &c. page 8) in the following Table is mentioned—Enacts

THAT persons ingrossing, printing, or writing any Indenture, Lease, Bond, or other Deed, on vellum, parchment, or paper, not duly stamped, and neglecting to have the same stamped, as therein directed, to forfeit 20l. and such Deed not to be available in any manner whatever until so stamped.—That Deeds having one stamp on each skin or sheet thereof, may within one calendar month be stamped, on payment of the duty only; and that the proper Officer appointed at the Stamp Office, is to calculate the number of folios, and express the duty payable thereon, by writing or subscribing in the margin of such Deed, &c. his certificate thereof, and upon payment of the duty at the Head Stamp Office, the same is to be stamped: But if such duty shall be paid at any other office to be appointed by the Commissioners of Stamps, then to be transmitted for that purpose within twenty-one days from the day of payment of such duty to such head office.—That any such Bond, Deed, &c. may be stamped within six calendar months, on payment of the duty and 10l. penalty, and at any time afterwards, on payment of the duty and 20l. penalty for each skin, &c. thereof.—That where any action is brought for improperly ingrossing any such Deeds, &c. and the same shall not have been stamped within one month from the date, the plaintiff to recover though afterwards stamped.—And any person adding any word in any such deed after the same has been calculated as aforesaid, to forfeit 100l.

37 G. 3. c. 90. includes Agreements, and enacts to the same effect.

Note—SCOTLAND is not affected by any of the following Duties prior to the Act of Union of 5 Ann. cap. 8. 1706. AND by 37 G. 3. c. 136. any INSTRUMENT (except Bills of Exchange, Promissory Notes or other Notes, Drafts or Orders) liable to Stamp Duty, whereon shall be impressed any STAMP of a DIFFERENT Denomination, but of an EQUAL or greater VALUE than the STAMP required, may be stamped with the proper Stamp after the EXECUTION, on Payment of Duty and FIVE POUNDS PENALTY, but without any Allowance for the wrong Stamp. LIKEWISE any such INSTRUMENT (except as aforesaid) being ingrossed WITHOUT having been first STAMPED, or having a STAMP thereon of LESS VALUE than required, the same may be stamped after the EXECUTION, on Payment of the Duty and TEN POUNDS PENALTY only for each skin thereof: But in case it shall be SATISFACTORILY PROVED to the Commissioners of Stamps, that the same hath been so ingrossed, either by accident or inadvertency, or from urgent necessity or unavoidable circumstances, and without any Intention of Fraud, the Commissioners are authorized to stamp the same within SIXTY Days after EXECUTION, to remit the Penalty, and indemnify Persons so ingrossing the same. Also any Person who before the 29th of September 1797, shall have used any Stamp subject to additional Duty, may have the same stamped at any time before November 1st, 1797, on Payment of Additional Duty only, without any Penalty.

That every certificate so to be obtained, shall be entered in one of the courts in which such person may be admitted, where (upon payment of the fee of 1s.) the proper officer of such court is to enter the same. That certificates granted as aforesaid shall bear date on the 2d November in such year, and any others on the day of issuing, but to expire on the 1st November following, and certificates granted before 1st November 1797, to expire on that day. That persons delivering to the commissioners certificates then in force to be cancelled, an allowance of duty shall be made in proportion to the period unexpired for which such certificate was granted. That persons acting without such certificates, or without entering the same, or delivering a place of residence contrary to the directions in the act of 25 G. 3. c. 80. shall forfeit £. 50 and be incapable of maintaining any action to be brought by him. And persons neglecting to obtain such certificates for one year, shall be incapable of practising: yet not to prevent any court from re-admitting such person, on payment of the duty accrued since the expiration of his last certificate, and such penalty as such court may think fit to order.

† The Duty to be paid by the Legatee.

‡ LEGACIES of ANNUITIES of whatever description, whether charged on personal or real estate, are liable to the same duties: such duties to be paid at four equal payments annually; the first of which payments to be made on completing the payment of the first year's annuity, and the others in like manner successively: unless the annuitant shall die in the interim, then proportionably according to the number of payments made. THE VALUE of such annuities to be calculated according to the tables in the schedule of the act 36 G. 3. c. 52. Duty on LEGACIES given to PURCHASERS annuities, to be calculated on the sums necessary to purchase them; and Duty on LEGACIES whose value can only be ascertained by application of the allotted fund, to be charged on the money as applied; but, IF at the end of two years it shall appear that it will be difficult to ascertain the residue of personal estate, the duty may be compounded for—with many other regulations and directions as per act 36 G. 3. c. 52. PRINTED forms of Receipts to be procured and Duties paid at the Legacy Receipt Office, Stamp Office, Somerset Place, or of or to any Distributor of Stamps in the country. DUTIES to be accounted for and paid by executors or administrators on retaining or paying legacies, and to be deducted and retained by them out of such legacies: but executors paying legacies without deducting the duty, both legatee and executor accountable for same. RECEIPTS to be stamped within twenty-one days after date, or within three months on payment of duty and 10l. per cent. penalty.

Husband and Wife and the Royal Family are exempted.
